Dyslexia: Practical Solutions for Parents

This half day session covers what dyslexia is and identifies the five roles parents need to fulfil to support children with Specific Learning Difficulties (SpLDs). By the end of the session, participants should have:

- understood what dyslexia is and what parents should do if they suspect their child is dyslexic
- a good grasp of the five roles parents can play to help their child substantially and various strategies within those roles
- understood what makes a dyslexia friendly school
- been able to ask their questions and seek answers

This free workshop is being provided by WGS's OpAL (Opportunities through Assisted Learning) programme in order to provide practical help to parents of children with SpLDs and to support the strategies being carried out by OpAL staff within the classroom environment
